

The New Stewardship Imperative - Federal Financial Management at the Crossroads
February 8, 2012
2 CPE Hours Available!

AGA is pleased to announce a new audio conference on the pressures on government financial managers to cut costs while still delivering services.

There are major “drivers” bearing down on government financial management these days, such as the continuing national economic crisis. In the meantime, Congress is wrangling on the Hill to cut $1.5 trillion to $4.0 trillion in government spending over the next 10 years while the national election looms in November 2012. These drivers are putting tremendous emphasis on cost containment, savings, recouping lost dollars, jettisoning wasteful programs and spending. This audio conference will describe techniques and tools that are proving effective in responding to these pressures.

To share their knowledge and expertise in government financial management and government operations are three Grant Thornton executives: Nilesh Chudasama, senior manager, Tom Coccozza, director, and James G. Huse Jr., senior adviser.

Please join us for two hours of lively discussion about this important and timely topic. In addition to the speakers’ commentary, about 20 minutes is set aside for Q & A.

Date: Wednesday, February 8, 2012

Time: 2 – 3:50 p.m. Eastern Standard Time

Learning Objectives: To learn how certain techniques and tools can be used to contain costs

Prerequisite: None required

Advance Prep: None required

CPE: Two credit hours

Field of Study: Accounting (Governmental)